Accelerator

YOU'VE SEEN SUCCESS & WANT MORE

You have moved beyond merely demonstrating the value of transformation. You've achieved successes, secured buy-in, and established governance. However, signs of strain are beginning to appear: delivery is inconsistent, data access is chaotic, and too much reliance is placed on a few key champions to keep everything afloat.

Biggest Pain Point: Inconsistency

You understand what is effective. The current challenge is to implement these solutions consistently and sustainably across the board.

Your Goal: Scale Successful Practices Without Losing Control

This phase focuses on evolving from isolated capabilities to institutional strength.

As an Accelerator, you're already beating the averages in key areas. The opportunity now is to systematise what works and eliminate the inconsistencies that limit your full potential.

USE THIS CHECKLIST TO HELP YOU BUILD REPEATABLE SYSTEMS

- [ ] Standardise your delivery model across teams
  When each team operates in its own way, your best practices can turn into bottlenecks. Aim for consistency to enhance efficiency and collaboration.

- [ ] Enhance your data governance and access protocols
  As your organisation grows, complexity increases. Clean data serves as both your fuel and your control system.

- [ ] Evaluate your platform stack for scalability
  As you progress, technical debt can accumulate rapidly. It's wise to invest in your infrastructure now to prevent potential friction down the line.

- [ ] Establish a metrics system to monitor transformation outcomes
  You are progressing past mere adoption; it is crucial to assess the impact at the business level.

- [ ] Create a learning loop among project teams
  Successes should be communicated quickly. Insights and obstacles need to be shared openly, rather than kept in isolation.

- [ ] Strengthening vendor relationships into co-innovation partnerships
  You have gained leverage; now is the time to utilise it to not only consume solutions but also to actively shape them.

This matters.

Digital transformation success is not just about technology. It is about execution, alignment, and culture.

Recent research reinforces what your results suggest:
Most digital initiatives fail to meet expectations—only 48% achieve their business targets. But organisations in the "digital vanguard" (where IT and business leaders collaborate closely) see 71% success rates.

These figures tell you this: Vision matters. But execution across silos is what separates the 48% from the 71%.
